I had under taken this perilous swim not to gain fame but to prove once again to the world that the Indians are no longer afraid. To the youth of India this triumph will have dramatically demonstrated that nothing is impossible for them-all they have to do is to believe and persevere and the goal will be theirs. For it is my firm conviction that unless we individually become adventurous and nationally restless and enterprising, India will not be able to break the bond of apathy and tradition, whether on the physical or the intellectual fronts. My Indian Ocean venture was a humble contribution towards this end.

It is possible for a teacher situated miles away to affect the spirit of the pupils by his way of living. It would be idle for me, if I were a liar, to teach boys to tell the truth. A cowardly teacher would never succeed in making his boys valiant, and a stranger to self-restraint could never teach his pupils the value of self-restraint. I saw, therefore, that I must be an eternal object-lesson to the boys and girls living with me. They thus became my teachers and I learnt I must be good and live straight, if only for their sake. I may say that the increasing discipline and restraint I imposed on myself at the Tolstoy Farm was mostly due to those wards of mine
